Attention Creative Writers/Artists: Deadline Extended for Messages from the Hidden Lake

The Friends of the Alamosa Public Library is looking for talent. Creative writers and artists are invited to submit work for the tenth edition of Messages from the Hidden Lake, a literary and art collection. The deadline for submissions has been extended to October 15, 2018.

The collection showcases work by Colorado authors and artists. Creative writers and artists of all ages may submit pieces for the volume, to be published this winter. Cash prizes are awarded in various categories.

Genre categories include poetry, short creative fiction and non-fiction, color or black and white photography or artwork. Submission guidelines and entry forms are available online at: www.alamosalibrary.org/volunteer/join-friends/.
